Announcing Grove

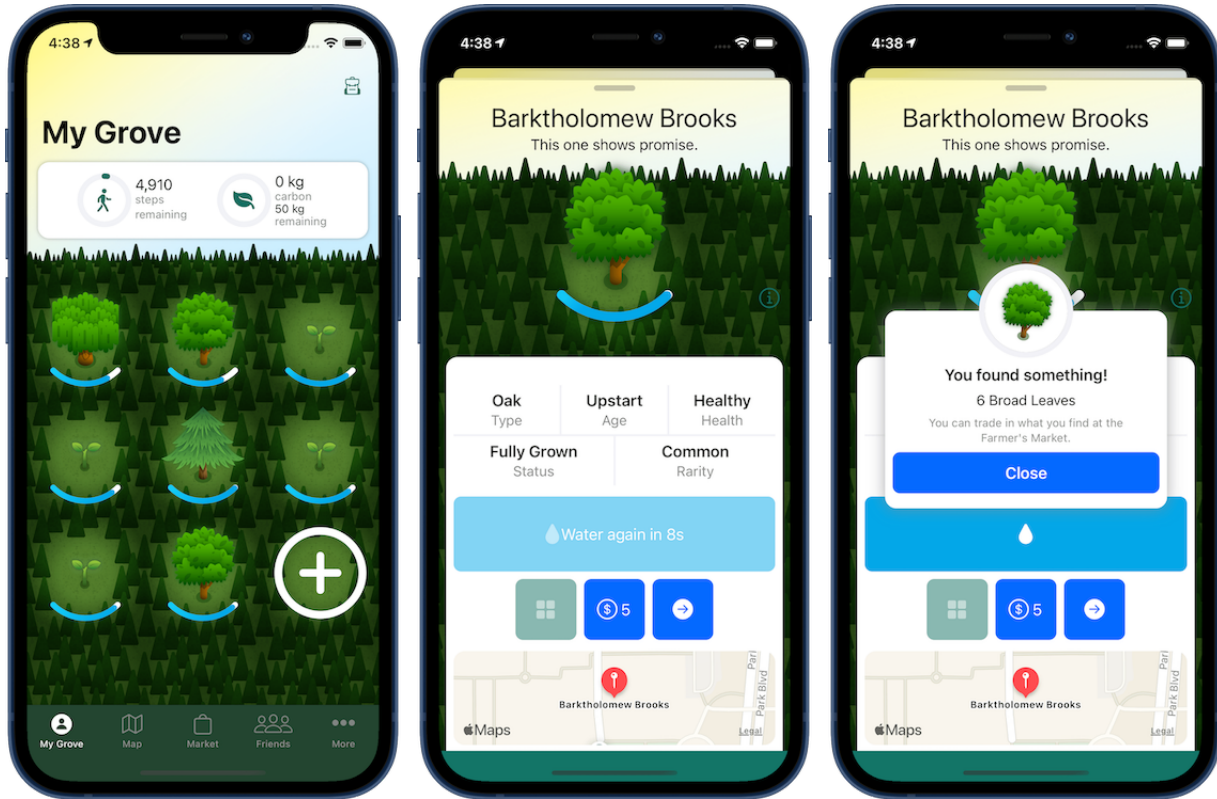

A new Climate-Aware, Tree-Planting Wellness Game for iOS

SkyRocket Software, an independent software company in San Diego, is proud to announce Grove, a new game for iOS. Grove is an educational wellness game that helps users stay active and have fun, all while teaching them about Climate Change. Users plant virtual trees in real world locations, and tend their grove by completing daily goals. Each tree presents educational content based on its species and users earn achievements by walking and completing other gameplay challenges.

Find out more about Grove by visiting the Grove product page, reading the launch blog post, or by downloading Grove from the Apple App Store using the link below.
